

Crucial Teams®

TEAMWORK TAKES MORE THAN TALENT

Talent is just one part of the equation. Success in the workplace depends on talented people working together to achieve results. Truly high-performing teams are made up of talented people who understand and appreciate different working styles and motives, who know how to utilize the varied and valuable strengths of others, and who can transform conflict into a source of camaraderie and collaboration.

WHAT IS CRUCIAL TEAMS?

Crucial Teams is built on the Strength Deployment Inventory® (SDI)®, a workplace personality assessment that helps people better understand themselves and others for healthier relationships and more productive interactions. During the course, teammates explore their own and each other's motives, the different strengths each member brings to the team, and the behaviors that can trigger conflict in the team. This team experience improves self-awareness and understanding and teaches skills to help team members better manage their perceptions and behaviors for more effective collaboration and teamwork.

The in-person experience of Crucial Teams is a fun and engaging team experience that's also illuminating and instructive. This course is designed to be experienced by an in-tact team that works and collaborates closely with one another. Team members gain greater self-awareness and understanding of each other through various exercises, videos, prompts for personal reflection, and group discussions that challenge perspectives to reveal new ways of seeing and responding to others. Delivered in one day, this in-person course offers the best in traditional learning and development.
